Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

2. Claim 1-3 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ryan (20040046376).

Ryan discloses an inflatable vehicle occupant protection device 18; a least one tether 30; an inflation fluid having two modes of operation wherein in the first mode of operation, the inflation fluid source is activated, in the second mode of operation, the inflation fluid source is activated to provide a second inflation fluid pressure in the inflatable vehicle occupant protection device higher than the first pressure, the tether remaining intact in response to the first inflation fluid pressure in the inflatable vehicle occupant protection device, the tether releasing in response to the second inflation fluid pressure in the inflatable vehicle occupant protection device. Ryan disclose dual stage igniters 72, 75, and an electronic circuitry 19. The device is made of fabric material and includes a back wall defining an opening and a front wall opposite the back wall, the front and back walls defining an interior chamber.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which the subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 4-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ryan (20040046376) in view of Schenck, et al. (6,076,854).

Ryan teaches the claimed invention except for a vent.

Schenck teaches an airbag assembly comprising a vent, a single stage inflator 32, a vent opening 48 and an actuatable door 44, see col. 2-col. 3, line 58-line 22.

Based on the teachings of Schenck, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the airbag of Ryan to include a vent to provide an airbag assembly that includes a variable gas inflator output.

5. Claims 10, 12-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ryan (20040046376) in view of Amamori (6,502,858).

Ryan teaches the claimed invention except for a tether having a first and second lengths.

Amamori teaches an airbag device having tethers comprising first and second lengths. The tether comprises a piece of elongate fabric material having first and second opposite facing surfaces and first and second terminal ends, as shown in the figures. The terminal end of the tether is fixed to a front wall and the second terminal end of the tether is fixed to a back wall of Amamori's airbag device. The tether includes a tear stitch and a plurality of tethers are coupled together with a single tear stitch as shown in figure 5. Based on the teachings of Amamori, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the tethers of Ryan to have first and second lengths to accommodate the expansion of an airbag during deployment to a restricted shape.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
